Dear Jale:

I have just learned from Elisabeth Alföldi of your distressing accident. Elisabeth reports that you have now at last regained some freedom of movement. I do hope that your recovery will be speedy and complete.

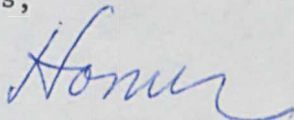

We have enjoyed the company of both Alföldi's here through the winter. Both have been remarkably well until a few days ago when they came down with colds. But Elisabeth hopes to be able to take off very soon on her next Porträtreise.

Dorothy and I shall go not to Greece but to Australia this summer. We are to lecture at the University of Sydney through June and July.

Do let me know when you could profit from another visit to Princeton.

Dorothy joins in warm greetings and in all good wishes for your health.

Yours,

Homer A. Thompson
