Dear Dr. Inan

You may remember very kindly helping me to see the important archaeological sites, museums, etc. in Istanbul, when I was there in the Spring of 1954. I am most grateful for all that you did for me then.

Our mutual friend Miss Elizabeth Rosenbaum, tells me that you are hoping to come to England in the Spring or early summer and would be willing to give a lecture in this museum to our archaeological students and others.

I should like now to invite you to do this. We can offer you a fee of £12 and hospitality in Cambridge. I understood that you would be prepared to lecture in English.

That would be essential, as very few of our students understand German. A general lecture on recent excavations at Sidon and Beja, with special references to sculptural and mosaic finds, would be what we should like.

The best time for us would be late February or very early March. But if that is impossible for you we could manage, less conveniently, late April or very early May.

Hoping to see you in England next year,

Yours sincerely

Jocelyn M. C. Taylor
