Re: Herakles Statue

Dear Professor Inan:

Welcome to New York. By the time you receive this letter, you will probably be aware that we have only been able to arrange for accommodations at the Journey's End Hotel through August 5. We have been told by the hotel that they will likely be able to extend your stay for an additional day. If not, we will make alternative arrangements for you.

Since I last spoke with you, we have learned through the attorneys for Leon Levy and Shelby White that they are willing to give you access to the Herakles Statue during your stay in New York. In order to prepare for your inspection of the statue -- which has not yet been scheduled -- we would like you to meet with us at our offices tomorrow morning starting at 9 A.M. I will stop by your hotel at 8:45 A.M. to pick you up.

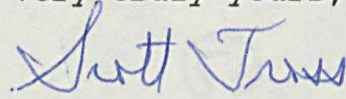

Also, pursuant to your request, I telephoned Jean Friendly and advised her of where you will be staying in New York. She indicated that she would like to get together with you at some point during your trip. I am sure that she will call you to follow up on this.

I look forward to meeting you tomorrow.

Very truly yours,
